

Come for an evening of participation in learning G S tools and techniques in dramatic form.

Katherine Liepe-Levinson previously presented her applied theatrical skills to “Anger Management: Using G S and the Techniques of the Professional Actor.”

She showed us that if we are to understand and productively manage the conflict of nations we must be able to better understand and manage how we act and react in the world as individuals.

Using G S formulations as well the rational – emotive - behavior modification methods devised by Albert Ellis, she included techniques employed by professional actors to be able to manage their emotions on stage at the drop of a hat.

Dr. Liepe-Levinson previously presented an “Author Meets the Public” evening discussing her book Strip Show: Performances of Gender and Desire.

“This book can thus serve as a useful entry to G S for people interested in philosophy, humanism, social science, psychology, religion, ethics, the humanities and sciences...the notion that there exist specific ways to increase sanity and expand human consciousness, both individually and collectively, through the application of a general attitude of scientific inquiry.”
- Bruce Kodish

“There are two ways to slide easily through life, namely, to believe everything or to doubt everything; both ways save us from thinking.”
- Alfred Korzybski

“...in order to learn you must desire to learn,...not be satisfied with what you already incline to think...Do not block the way of inquiry.”

- Charles S. Peirce
DARE TO INQUIRE !

“I make a case for daring to inquire, i.e., extending the scope of a scientific attitude to all areas of life.”

- Bruce Kodish
DARE TO INQUIRE !

“Structure, relation and order constitute basic undefined terms in GS. They can be defined in relation to each other and perhaps a few other terms such as difference, similarity, etc. Ultimately, to understand these undefined terms, we must go beyond the words to non-verbal, non-symbolic, non-mathematical experience.”

- Bruce Kodish

“...in order to learn you must desire to learn,...not be satisfied with what you already incline to think...Do not block the way of inquiry.”

- Charles S. Peirce

Bruce I. Kodish, PhD has written an up-to-date G S approach to both scientific and ethical inquiry, challenging assumptions, pointing to pos-sible practical solutions. This is a well-written book that educates and inspires with many facets of interest. He shows how the principles of General Semantics can help one lead a rich and fulfilling life, free from dangerous illusions and rigid thinking.

Our monthly study of Bruce Kodish's book will be supplemented by participation exercises and demonstrations by a team of our experienced G S teachers.

We'll start with an overview of the book, and chapters "The Present Mess" and "Becoming More Fully Human."

We'll meet 7 PM – 8:45 at the Ellis Institute again on March 22, April 19, May 24 and June 21, and continue in the Fall.

Registration for Members is Free, Non-members $5 each session. Join NYSGS and save!

Dare to Inquire will be available for $15 at the meeting, and in ad-vance by mail, plus postage. Phone to request your copy, 212-532-1467.
